

Agencies prohibit hunting over bait

The U.S. Forest Service is the latest land management agency in North Dakota to prohibit hunting big game and other wildlife over bait.

Dave Pieper, grasslands supervisor, signed an order in September prohibiting hunting over bait on the Dakota Prairie Grasslands.

Along with the U.S. Forest Service's national grasslands, hunting over bait also is not allowed on all North Dakota Game and Fish Department wildlife management areas, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service national wildlife refuges and waterfowl production areas, and all North Dakota state school, park and forest service lands.

Hunting over bait is defined as the placement and/or use of baits for attracting big game and other wildlife to a specific location for the purpose of hunting.

Baits include, but are not limited to grains, minerals, salts, fruits, vegetables, hay or any other natural or manufactured foods. It does not apply to the use of scents and lures, water, food plots, standing crops, or livestock feeds being used in standard practices.

Two lakes closed to fishing

Anglers are reminded that two North Dakota lakes will close to fishing for several months beginning in November.

McDowell Dam (Burleigh County) and Lightning Lake (McLean County) are closed to fishing from Nov. 1 through March 31.

Anglers should refer to the 2008-10 North Dakota Fishing Guide for further regulations.

Hunter died of natural causes

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — The Pennington County sheriff's office says an Onida man who was missing on a Black Hills elk hunt died of natural causes.

The body of 35-year-old Brad McGee was found Saturday morning not far from his vehicle southwest of Hill City. A ground and air search began on Friday when he was reported missing. A preliminary autopsy indicates his death was heart-related and occurred last Wednesday.

Matching up hunters, landowners

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — A Web site that helps hunters find a place to hunt antlerless deer is available through the South Dakota Department of Game, Fish and Parks at www.state.sd.us/applications/GF75VolHuntersAntlerless/AntlerlessHuntIntro.aspx.

People can sign up for a specific season and list up to three counties where they are interested in hunting. Landowners who want someone to hunt deer on their land can then review the list and contact hunters directly to make arrangements.

WICHITA, Kan. — The Davis sisters alternated between giggling and bickering as they shared doughnuts and driving duties late Saturday morning.

Three hours earlier, Hailey, 14, and Holly, 12, shared a scene that's very common for them.

As the sun rose on Saturday's opening of late zone duck season, the girls were cradling shotguns, one on each side of their father,

"I like just sitting there, watching all of the other stuff, like turkeys, while you're hunting."
