

3. Following delivery of the corn on this contract, I received US Bio Hankinson, LLC check number 6841 dated September 22, 2008, for the amount of $26,934.70. The check was issued to me and Bank of the West. I usually cash checks right away, but I was busy working long hours and misplaced the check. Approximately three or four weeks after I first received the check I called Jon Anderson, Grain Procurement Manger at the Hankinson ethanol facility, to tell him that I couldn't find the check and asked for a new check to be issued. He didn't really have anything to say and I did not receive a new check.
4. I finally found the check in December of 2008 and I deposited it with Bank of the West. I received a statement from Bank of the West dated December 9, 2008, along with a copy of the check marked RETURN REASON – C, STOP PAYMENT, Do Not Re-deposit. When I first deposited the check, I thought the check would be good because the banker told me that earlier checks had been returned, but then when they were re-deposited a second time, they were good.
5. I called Jon Anderson again after the check was returned. He told me that VeraSun had filed for bankruptcy and the check could not be cashed. Jon gave me a Sioux Falls number and when I called Sioux Falls, I was told they were in bankruptcy.
6. I am not familiar with credit-sale contracts because I always sell my grain for cash. I never intended to extend credit to VeraSun Hankinson, LLC for the sale of my corn and I did not execute any oral or written agreement to sell my corn under a credit-sale arrangement.

7. I did not file a claim in the bankruptcy court.
