

...nt will help maintain houses of worship continued from front

Russia. The entire was named to the Register of Places on July 12, stone church and white church need major repair-restoration. The St. Andrew's Preservation Committee help to get it done. A recent need is a new beautiful, tall church. The St.

Andrew's Preservation Committee applied for and received a grant from Preservation North Dakota. Thrivent Financial for Lutherans will match donations made the day of the event.

Keeping clergy to serve a country parish is difficult, so regular services are no longer held at St. Andrew's. It is used for special events and has been maintained all these years by the families who remain actively involved — including the St. Andrew's Centennial Choir, which most recently on Dakota has been featured in several documentaries about the Germans from Russia and Air: The Radio Show.

EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT

With six locations, Green Iron Equipment has a team full of knowledge and experience to serve you well. You may be familiar with the team in your area, but they are supported by members in all locations. This support carries through to you, the customer. Each week we will highlight different members of our team so you can meet them all.

Clint Hoggarth, LaMoure, Sales Coordinator
Clint Hoggarth provides 39 years of agricultural experience to Green Iron Equipment. Ten of those years have been with the GIE team. Most of those 39 years have been in the machinery sales, but Hoggarth also has experience in 2 way radio communications and crop insurance sales. Hoggarth and his wife, Angela reside in LaMoure, ND. They have three grown sons and three grandchildren. Hoggarth enjoys hunting pheasants and his old Pontiac car. Hoggarth is a member of the LaMoure City Council.

Shane Moran, LaMoure
Trucking Coordinator/Service Writer
Shane Moran has been working in the Ag Industry for 16 years. He has been with GIE for 3 years. Moran grew up in Jamestown and graduated from Jamestown High School. He attended UND. Moran resides in rural Ypsilanti, ND with his wife, Shannon and their sons Alex (15) and Dylan (12). He enjoys spending time with family, fishing and weight lifting.
