Help AARP ND Oppose MDU's Natural Gas Rate Change

The PSC will consider a plan from MDU to change the way it bills consumers for its natural gas service. Under its proposal, MDU customers will see the "residential service delivery charge" raised from approximately $9 a month to roughly $18 per month, BEFORE any gas is used. AARP does not think this is right and is urging the PSC to stop MDU from making this drastic change. Sign the Petition below.

As an AARP member in North Dakota, I oppose MDU's plan to significantly increase the fixed or flat fee for natural gas delivery to my home. This is a change that would benefit high-volume residential consumers of gas, at the expense of low-volume residential users. The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. However, this would be accomplished by almost doubling the minimum part of the bill that ordinary customers must pay each month before they ever consume any natural gas. Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Many consumers, like me, diligently dedicate themselves to conserving their home energy usage to keep their energy bills more affordable. I should not be punished for doing so and ask you to oppose MDU's plan to shift entirely to a fixed fee for service. Instead, MDU should keep a strong component of its service delivery charge based on the amount of gas a consumer uses. I encourage you to make this change as you consider the MDU natural gas rate design.

Under its proposal, MDU customers will see the "residential service delivery charge" raised from approximately $9 a month to roughly $18 per month, BEFORE any gas is used. AARP does not think this is right and is urging the PSC to stop MDU from making this drastic change. Sign the Petition below.

As an AARP member in North Dakota, I oppose MDU's plan to significantly increase the fixed or flat fee for natural gas delivery to my home. This is a change that would benefit high-volume residential consumers of gas, at the expense of low-volume residential users. The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. However, this would be accomplished by almost doubling the minimum part of the bill that ordinary customers must pay each month before they ever consume any natural gas. Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Many consumers, like me, diligently dedicate themselves to conserving their home energy usage to keep their energy bills more affordable. I should not be punished for doing so and ask you to oppose MDU's plan to shift entirely to a fixed fee for service. Instead, MDU should keep a strong component of its service delivery charge based on the amount of gas a consumer uses. I encourage you to make this change as you consider the MDU natural gas rate design.

As an AARP member in North Dakota, I oppose MDU's plan to significantly increase the fixed or flat fee for natural gas delivery to my home. This is a change that would benefit high-volume residential consumers of gas, at the expense of low-volume residential users. The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. However, this would be accomplished by almost doubling the minimum part of the bill that ordinary customers must pay each month before they ever consume any natural gas. Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Many consumers, like me, diligently dedicate themselves to conserving their home energy usage to keep their energy bills more affordable. I should not be punished for doing so and ask you to oppose MDU's plan to shift entirely to a fixed fee for service. Instead, MDU should keep a strong component of its service delivery charge based on the amount of gas a consumer uses. I encourage you to make this change as you consider the MDU natural gas rate design.

Help AARP ND Oppose MDU's Natural Gas Rate Change

The PSC will consider a plan from MDU to change the way it bills consumers for its natural gas service. Under its proposal, MDU customers will see the "residential service delivery charge" raised from approximately $9 a month to roughly $18 per month, BEFORE any gas is used. AARP does not think this is right and is urging the PSC to stop MDU from making this drastic change. Sign the Petition below.

The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. However, this would be accomplished by almost doubling the minimum part of the bill that ordinary customers must pay each month before they ever consume any natural gas. Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Many consumers, like me, diligently dedicate themselves to conserving their home energy usage to keep their energy bills more affordable. I should not be punished for doing so and ask you to oppose MDU's plan to shift entirely to a fixed fee for service. Instead, MDU should keep a strong component of its service delivery charge based on the amount of gas a consumer uses. I encourage you to make this change as you consider the MDU natural gas rate design.

Help AARP ND Oppose MDU's Natural Gas Rate Change

The PSC will consider a plan from MDU to change the way it bills consumers for its natural gas service. Under its proposal, MDU customers will see the "residential service delivery charge" raised from approximately $9 a month to roughly $18 per month, BEFORE any gas is used. AARP does not think this is right and is urging the PSC to stop MDU from making this drastic change. Sign the Petition below.

As an AARP member in North Dakota, I oppose MDU's plan to significantly increase the fixed or flat fee for natural gas delivery to my home. This is a change that would benefit high-volume residential consumers of gas, at the expense of low-volume residential users. The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. Many consumers, like me, diligently dedicate themselves to conserving their home energy usage to keep their energy bills more affordable. I should not be punished for doing so and ask you to oppose MDU's plan to shift entirely to a fixed fee for service. Instead, MDU should keep a strong component of its service delivery charge based on the amount of gas a consumer uses. I encourage you to make this change as you consider the MDU natural gas rate design.

Help AARP ND Oppose MDU's Natural Gas Rate Change

The PSC will consider a plan from MDU to change the way it bills consumers for its natural gas service. Under its proposal, MDU customers will see the "residential service delivery charge" raised from approximately $9 a month to roughly $18 per month, BEFORE any gas is used. AARP does not think this is right and is urging the PSC to stop MDU from making this drastic change. Sign the Petition below.

As an AARP member in North Dakota, I oppose MDU's plan to significantly increase the fixed or flat fee for natural gas delivery to my home. This is a change that would benefit high-volume residential consumers of gas, at the expense of low-volume residential users. The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. However, this would be accomplished by almost doubling the minimum part of the bill that ordinary customers must pay each month before they ever consume any natural gas. Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Many consumers, like me, diligently dedicate themselves to conserving their home energy usage to keep their energy bills more affordable. I should not be punished for doing so and ask you to oppose MDU's plan to shift entirely to a fixed fee for service. Instead, MDU should keep a strong component of its service delivery charge based on the amount of gas a consumer uses. I encourage you to make this change as you consider the MDU natural gas rate design.

Help AARP ND Oppose MDU's Natural Gas Rate Change

The PSC will consider a plan from MDU to change the way it bills consumers for its natural gas service. Under its proposal, MDU customers will see the "residential service delivery charge" raised from approximately $9 a month to roughly $18 per month, BEFORE any gas is used. AARP does not think this is right and is urging the PSC to stop MDU from making this drastic change. Sign the Petition below.

As an AARP member in North Dakota, I oppose MDU's plan to significantly increase the fixed or flat fee for natural gas delivery to my home. This is a change that would benefit high-volume residential consumers of gas, at the expense of low-volume residential users. The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. However, this would be accomplished by almost doubling the minimum part of the bill that ordinary customers must pay each month before they ever consume any natural gas. Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Many consumers, like me, diligently dedicate themselves to conserving their home energy usage to keep their energy bills more affordable. I should not be punished for doing so and ask you to oppose MDU's plan to shift entirely to a fixed fee for service. Instead, MDU should keep a strong component of its service delivery charge based on the amount of gas a consumer uses. I encourage you to make this change as you consider the MDU natural gas rate design.

Help AARP ND Oppose MDU's Natural Gas Rate Change

The PSC will consider a plan from MDU to change the way it bills consumers for its natural gas service. Under its proposal, MDU customers will see the "residential service delivery charge" raised from approximately $9 a month to roughly $18 per month, BEFORE any gas is used. AARP does not think this is right and is urging the PSC to stop MDU from making this drastic change. Sign the Petition below.

As an AARP member in North Dakota, I oppose MDU's plan to significantly increase the fixed or flat fee for natural gas delivery to my home. This is a change that would benefit high-volume residential consumers of gas, at the expense of low-volume residential users. The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. However, this would be accomplished by almost doubling the minimum part of the bill that ordinary customers must pay each month before they ever consume any natural gas. Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Many consumers, like me, diligently dedicate themselves to conserving their home energy usage to keep their energy bills more affordable. I should not be punished for doing so and ask you to oppose MDU's plan to shift entirely to a fixed fee for service. Instead, MDU should keep a strong component of its service delivery charge based on the amount of gas a consumer uses. I encourage you to make this change as you consider the MDU natural gas rate design.

Help AARP ND Oppose MDU's Natural Gas Rate Change

The PSC will consider a plan from MDU to change the way it bills consumers for its natural gas service. Under its proposal, MDU customers will see the "residential service delivery charge" raised from approximately $9 a month to roughly $18 per month, BEFORE any gas is used. AARP does not think this is right and is urging the PSC to stop MDU from making this drastic change. Sign the Petition below.

As an AARP member in North Dakota, I oppose MDU's plan to significantly increase the fixed or flat fee for natural gas delivery to my home. This is a change that would benefit high-volume residential consumers of gas, at the expense of low-volume residential users. The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. However, this would be accomplished by almost doubling the minimum part of the bill that ordinary customers must pay each month before they ever consume any natural gas. Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Help AARP ND Oppose MDU's Natural Gas Rate Change

The PSC will consider a plan from MDU to change the way it bills consumers for its natural gas service. Under its proposal, MDU customers will see the "residential service delivery charge" raised from approximately $9 a month to roughly $18 per month, BEFORE any gas is used. AARP does not think this is right and is urging the PSC to stop MDU from making this drastic change. Sign the Petition below.

As an AARP member in North Dakota, I oppose MDU's plan to significantly increase the fixed or flat fee for natural gas delivery to my home. This is a change that would benefit high-volume residential consumers of gas, at the expense of low-volume residential users. The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. However, this would be accomplished by almost doubling the minimum part of the bill that ordinary customers must pay each month before they ever consume any natural gas. Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Many consumers, like me, diligently dedicate themselves to conserving their home energy usage to keep their energy bills more affordable. I should not be punished for doing so and ask you to oppose MDU's plan to shift entirely to a fixed fee for service. Instead, MDU should keep a strong component of its service delivery charge based on the amount of gas a consumer uses. I encourage you to make this change as you consider the MDU natural gas rate design.

Help AARP ND Oppose MDU's Natural Gas Rate Change

The PSC will consider a plan from MDU to change the way it bills consumers for its natural gas service. Under its proposal, MDU customers will see the "residential service delivery charge" raised from approximately $9 a month to roughly $18 per month, BEFORE any gas is used. AARP does not think this is right and is urging the PSC to stop MDU from making this drastic change. Sign the Petition below.

As an AARP member in North Dakota, I oppose MDU's plan to significantly increase the fixed or flat fee for natural gas delivery to my home. This is a change that would benefit high-volume residential consumers of gas, at the expense of low-volume residential users. The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. However, this would be accomplished by almost doubling the minimum part of the bill that ordinary customers must pay each month before they ever consume any natural gas. Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Many consumers, like me, diligently dedicate themselves to conserving their home energy usage to keep their energy bills more affordable. I should not be punished for doing so and ask you to oppose MDU's plan to shift entirely to a fixed fee for service. Instead, MDU should keep a strong component of its service delivery charge based on the amount of gas a consumer uses. I encourage you to make this change as you consider the MDU natural gas rate design.

The PSC will consider a plan from MDU to change the way it bills consumers for its natural gas service. Under its proposal, MDU customers will see the "residential service delivery charge" raised from approximately $9 a month to roughly $18 per month, BEFORE any gas is used. AARP does not think this is right and is urging the PSC to stop MDU from making this drastic change. Sign the Petition below.

As an AARP member in North Dakota, I oppose MDU's plan to significantly increase the fixed or flat fee for natural gas delivery to my home. This is a change that would benefit high-volume residential consumers of gas, at the expense of low-volume residential users. The proposal would remove any usage component from the natural gas distribution portion of rates that are under review in this case. However, this would be accomplished by almost doubling the minimum part of the bill that ordinary customers must pay each month before they ever consume any natural gas. Any rate increase is a struggle; imagine being on a fixed income and having to pay $18 each month before using any gas at all.

Many consumers, like me, diligently dedicate themselves to conserving their home energy usage to keep their energy bills more affordable. I should not be punished for doing so and ask you to oppose MDU's plan to shift entirely to a fixed fee for service. Instead, MDU should keep a strong component of its service delivery charge based on the amount of gas a consumer uses. I encourage you to make this change as you consider the MDU natural gas rate design.
