Good Afternoon Todd:

A registered service company in North Dakota must maintain independence from the regulated industry. This means not having a financial interest in a business entity that owns or operates commercial weighing devices under the jurisdiction of the Weights and Measures program. Maintaining a strict adherence to this independence is how the integrity and accountability of the program remains strong and ensures equitable transactions occur between customers and device operators. If you have any further questions, please feel free to contact us via phone or email.

Shelly,

I had sold my company back in 2012/2013 and no longer handle or sell fertilizer and chemical. I am raising certified seed at this time. I am only looking to get into another line of business which would be to sell scales in ND, so with that I would also like to be able to check and certify scales since I know it has been hard for the current scale companies to keep up. I don't feel you or anyone else can make the comment that I may not be trustworthy enough to do my job since I have a scale myself and may not treat others fairly. (you did make that comment to me on our phone conversation several months back). Please let me know what other options and what I would have to do for me to be able to start a new business in scale certification. With all the oil activity and local grain elevators I am sure there is a need for more people in this line of work. I will be getting help from Phil Mycintre from Specialty Products out of Fargo, ND to start up my business.

Thanks Todd

Shelly,

I had sent in my application to be registered and or certified to check weight scales in ND. I have not heard anything back at this time. Just making sure you received my application and would like a response to know when I would expect some info back.

Thanks,
Todd
