II. THE CONFIDENTIAL MATERIALS

A. Confidential Exhibits A-1, A-2, and A-3 to the Company's USF Report And Narrative Passages

Confidential Exhibit A-1 is a table identifying specific construction or upgrade projects that the Company undertook in its Designated Area in 2016 in order to expand or improve service, and also setting forth operational spending in its Designated Area in 2016. Confidential Exhibit A-2 is an updated table identifying specific construction, maintenance, or upgrade projects the Company plans to undertake in its Designated Area in 2017, and also projecting operational spending in its Designated Area in 2017. Confidential Exhibit A-3 is a table identifying specific construction, maintenance, or upgrade projects the Company plans to undertake in its Designated Area in 2018, and also projecting operational spending in its Designated Area in 2018. For each project on the tables in Exhibits A-1, A-2, and A-3, the Company has included the amount of investment made or expected to be made, the geographic location, and the estimated population served. A few sentences in the Annual Report describe or refer to information in Confidential Exhibits A-1, A-2, or A-3.

B. Confidential Exhibit B -- the Company's ETC Outage Report

Confidential Exhibit B, the ETC Outage Report, includes certain specific information for each outage of over 30 minutes in duration experienced by the Company in its ETC-designated service area in 2016, including the start and end time, a description of the outage, the location of the outage, and the number of customers affected.

III. THE CONFIDENTIAL MATERIALS ARE AFFORDED TRADE SECRET PROTECTION BY THE FCC AND UNDER NORTH DAKOTA LAW

North Dakota's Open Records Law (N.D.C.C. § 44-04-18 et seq.) provides that "Except as otherwise specifically provided by law, all records of a public entity [such as the Commission] are public records" and therefore must be made available. N.D.C.C. § 44-04-18(1) (emphasis added). The Open Records Law also contains a specific exception – Section 44-04-18.4(1) – which provides a safeguard for confidential information (the "Confidential Exception"). The information in the Confidential Materials falls within the "otherwise specifically provided by law" exception because it is treated as confidential by the regulations and orders of the Federal Communications Commission ("FCC"). Moreover, the information in the Confidential Materials falls within the statutorily-defined Confidential Exception.

A. The FCC Treats this Information as Confidential

The "term 'law' as used in [N.D.C.C. § 44-04-18(1)] includes federal statutes and applicable federal regulations, as well as state law." N.D. Op. Atty. Gen. L-32, 1998 WL 1058327 (Mar. 30, 1998). The information in the Confidential Materials is stated to be confidential by the FCC under 47 C.F.R. §§ 0.457 and 0.459 and its orders. See, e.g., Cingular Order<sup>2</sup> (granting a protective order to keep service improvement plan information like that contained in Confidential Exhibits A-1, A-2, and A-3 confidential); Corr Order<sup>3</sup> (same); Outage Order<sup>4</sup> (explaining why outage information similar to that contained in Confidential Exhibit B is considered confidential for reasons of national security). In its March 12 Order, the Commission

Aug. 15, 2007) ("Cingular Order").

<sup>3</sup> In the Matter of Federal-State Joint Board on Universal Service, Corr Wireless Communications, LLC Petition for Designation as an Eligible Telecommunications Carrier in the State of Alabama, Protective Order, CC Docket No. 96-45, Order, DA 07-3629 (rel. found that “the information in [the Company’s 2007] Confidential Exhibits A-1, A-2, A-3, and C-1 [containing outage information] is protected under federal regulation.” March 12 Order at 5. Accordingly, the Commission should consider the Company’s current Confidential Materials to be confidential under the exception in N.D.C.C. § 44-04-18(1) for information “otherwise specifically provided by law” as non-public.

B. The Confidential Materials Fall Within the Confidential Exception

Section 44-04-18.4(1)’s Confidential Exception provides as follows: “(1) Trade secret, proprietary, commercial, and financial information is confidential if it is (2) of a privileged nature and (3) it has not been previously publicly disclosed.” (emphasis and numbering added).

“Trade secret” is defined as follows:

“Trade secret” means information, including a formula, pattern, compilation, program, device, method, technique, technical know how or process, that:

1. Derives independent economic value, actual or potential, from not being generally known to, and not being readily ascertainable by proper means by, other persons that can obtain economic value from its disclosure or use; and
2. Is the subject of efforts that are reasonable under the circumstances to maintain the secrecy of the information.

N.D.C.C. § 44.04-18.4.<sup>5</sup>

The Confidential Materials meet each element of the Confidential Exception under North Dakota Statutes. First, they fall squarely within the definition of a “trade secret.” If the Company’s competitors obtained the information contained in the Confidential Materials, the competitors could obtain economic value from the disclosure. Given this potential, the Company closely safeguards the information by prohibiting employee disclosure and restricting access to the information. Second, the information in the Confidential Materials is “of a privileged nature” because “disclosure of the information is likely ... to cause substantial harm to the competitive position of the person from whom the information was obtained.” See N.D. Op. Atty. Gen. L-77, 1998 WL 1058291 (June 17, 1998). The Company would be substantially harmed if the Confidential Materials’ information were made public. Finally, the information in the Confidential Materials has not previously been disclosed. Therefore, as the Commission found in its March 12 Order, the Confidential Materials qualify for confidential treatment under N.D.C.C. § 44-04-18.4.

IV. CONCLUSION

The Company respectfully requests that Confidential Exhibits A-1, A-2, and A-3; narrative passages describing the same; and Confidential Exhibit B be held confidential pursuant to N.D.C.C. § 44-04-18 et seq., consistent with the March 12 Order.
